INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY REPORT ON PATENTABILITY

International application No.
PCT/US04/33049Box No. V Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement*1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims 9,10,17	YES
	Claims 1-8, 11-16, 18, 19	NO
Inventive Step (IS)	Claims 17	YES
	Claims 1-16, 18-19	NO
Industrial Applicability (IA)	Claims 1-19	YES
	Claims NONE	NO

2. Citations and Explanations (Rule 70.7)

Claims 1-8 lack novelty under PCT Article 33(2) as being anticipated by US 5,156,610 to Reger.

(claim 1) Reger teaches an embolectomy catheter 10 comprising a lumen including a grooved insertion end 32.

(claim 2) Reger teaches a grooved tip 18 attached to the insertion end.

(claim 3) Reger teaches a fixed tip (Fig. 1).

(claim 4) Reger teaches a rotating tip (from Fig. 2 to Fig. 3).

(claim 5) Reger teaches the grooved tip affixed via a coupling joint (Fig. 1).

(claim 6) Reger teaches the groove end including a spiral groove (Fig. 1-3).

(claim 7) Reger teaches perfusion sideholes 94.

(claim 8) Reger teaches a plunger 14.

Claims 9 and 10 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over US 5,156,610 to Reger in view of US 5,700,269 to Pinchuk et al.

Reger is silent with regards to the device formed from a hydrophilic material, such as hydrogel. Pinchuk teaches a catheter comprising a plunger that is made of hydrogel (col. 5, line 21). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to form the device of Reger with hydrogel, since it is well known in the art to use Hydrogel to form a part of a catheter/plunger device, as taught by Pinchuk.

Claims 11-16, 18 and 19 lack novelty under PCT Article 33(2) as being anticipated by US 6,022,363 to Walker et al.

(claim 11) Walker teaches a method of treating a thrombus by inserting a catheter and rotating the catheter within the individual, thereby breaking the thrombus (col. 13, line 14 - col. 14, line 34).

(claim 12) Walker teaches rotating the catheter to break the thrombus.

(claim 13) Walker teaches the step of removing the broken fragments (dissolves).

(claims 14-16, 18 and 19) Walker teaches administering thrombolytic agents and preventing distal migration of fragments (col. 14, lines 1-10).

Claim 17 meets the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(2)-(3), because the prior art does not teach or fairly suggest a method of treating a thrombus comprising, among other features, preventing the migration of the fragments by inserting a plunger.

Claims 1-19 meet the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(4), and thus have industrial applicability because the subject matter claimed can be made or used in industry.
